WILDLIFE CONSERVATION CLUB

Wildlife Conservation Club (WCC) of MCC was inaugurated on 11th October 2021. WCC has been constituted to conserve our campus’ wildlife and to mitigate any conflicts that may arise. WCC strives to create an environment where animals and humans may coexist in peace. WCC is currently managing the conflict between the dogs and deers present on our campus. The club has also proposed the following activities with a broad vision of conserving both flora and fauna within our campus which is vital for their co-existence nurtured over 100 years:- 1. Green-auditing 2. Deer Census 3. Documentation of flora and fauna 4. Rescue of dogs and partitioning the niches to avoid the conflicts 5. Dog feeding programs 6. Sterilization and vaccination drive for the dogs 7. QR-based identification of both avenue and wild trees 8. Replanting the indigenous trees at the opened canopies.

The pandemic and the scarcity of food had forced our canines into hunting deer, which sparked concern. This club has been strategized on few initiatives to overcome this issue by proposing the following activities:- (i) landscape with tiered-vegetation (ii) identification of conflict-zones (iii) partitioning the foraging grounds at the sites of overlapping niches (iv) demography census on both dogs and deers (v) Implementation of Geo-referenced tags to monitor the movements of dogs (vi) Curation of food wastes and its management that comes from various sources.

The Club’s subdivisions, namely the Rescue and Research team, have been actively working towards the smooth functioning of the Club. Research Team On-going research is on ‘how to manage and mitigate the dog population on campus’. This includes the utilization of sustainable techniques such as waste management and the sterilization of selective dogs (i.e. spaying and neutering). Understanding the behaviour of feral dogs and identifying their territory using geo-tags. Locating dog-deer territories that overlap and selectively modify the vegetative structure to protect both populations separately. The Rescue Team organized an anti-rabies vaccination drive on 11th October 2021 on campus. Through the help of the PFCI (People for Cattles in India), we vaccinated twenty dogs. Such vaccinations ensure the safety of students, staff, and residents. The organization also donated twenty kilograms of dog food, which we currently use to feed our dogs.

On the 21st October 2021, the rescue team encountered their first task. A dog was found with an injury on the neck. The team chased after the dog, managed to capture and bring him to the campus. Unfortunately, it was mating season and by morning he had escaped from the cage that had secured him in.

On 28th October 2021, the team found a small malnourished puppy in the area just outside the campus. She was named Zuca. She fostered for a while and now has a forever home at the campus farm. She is being well taken care of there.

On 3rd November 2021, the team was informed that a female dog on campus had given birth. She had given birth in a shed full of discarded wooden desks and chairs and soon moved her pups to a safer place outside on the level ground. Unfortunately, she was unable to move one of her puppies as it had fallen through the pieces of wood. The rescue team along with Mr. Sudeep (Research Scholar, Department of Statistics) was able to rescue. They dug through the pile of wood, threw aside large planks, and finally got to the little puppy. The team rescued it and reunited it with the mother.

On 20th November 2021, the team got calls about a dog on campus bleeding from the ear. The dogcatcher was immediately called. After managing to capture her, she was sent to a vet clinic. She was given the required treatment, neutered, and brought back to the campus in good health. She was named as Luna.

Sometime around the beginning of November, Ms. Smrithi Wilson, Chairperson, WCC, got a call about a puppy, who had suffered a spine injury. This puppy was taken along with Zuca and another puppy (all three found in and around campus) to BMAD (Besant Memorial Animal Dispensary). All puppies received the required treatment. The insured puppy is currently being fostered and given all the special care and help it needs.

CONCLUSION

The academic year 2021-2022 has witnessed once again the sovereign hand of God orchestrating all the events, sustaining us through Crises during pandemic lockdown in addition to receiving an honour and privilege of becoming trend setting and trend shifting institution as in the past. Madras Christian College will strive hard to appropriate and contextualize the developments in education by tuning itself with the current trends fulfilling the vision of our founding fathers and plan of God. Madras Christian College has ventured into creating a culture of innovation and research, culture of resource mobilization and prospectively would embrace outcome based education as part of its education mission. Lockdown was an opportunity to prove that MCC reckons employee value proposition through its service to humanity by holding its staff financially safe through its reserves. Pandemic dispensation was an opportunity for the institution to validate its resilience through a seamless transition to the digital platform. This was possible only by the providence of God. Apart from setting benchmarks for the development of the institution, Madras Christian College believes in handholding the stakeholders to achieve the goal by providing awareness, infrastructure, mentorship and opportunities to grow from naivety to proficiency.

WILDLIFE CONSERVATION CLUB

Wildlife Conservation Club (WCC) of MCC was inaugurated on 11th October 2021. WCC has been constituted to conserve our campus’ wildlife and to mitigate any conflicts that may arise. WCC strives to create an environment where animals and humans may coexist in peace. WCC is currently managing the conflict between the dogs and deers present on our campus. The club has also proposed the following activities with a broad vision of conserving both flora and fauna within our campus which is vital for their co-existence nurtured over 100 years:- 1. Green-auditing 2. Deer Census 3. Documentation of flora and fauna 4. Rescue of dogs and partitioning the niches to avoid the conflicts 5. Dog feeding programs 6. Sterilization and vaccination drive for the dogs 7. QR-based identification of both avenue and wild trees 8. Replanting the indigenous trees at the opened canopies.

The pandemic and the scarcity of food had forced our canines into hunting deer, which sparked concern. This club has been strategized on few initiatives to overcome this issue by proposing the following activities:- (i) landscape with tiered-vegetation (ii) identification of conflict-zones (iii) partitioning the foraging grounds at the sites of overlapping niches (iv) demography census on both dogs and deers (v) Implementation of Geo-referenced tags to monitor the movements of dogs (vi) Curation of food wastes and its management that comes from various sources.

The Club’s subdivisions, namely the Rescue and Research team, have been actively working towards the smooth functioning of the Club. Research Team On-going research is on ‘how to manage and mitigate the dog population on campus’. This includes the utilization of sustainable techniques such as waste management and the sterilization of selective dogs (i.e. spaying and neutering). Understanding the behaviour of feral dogs and identifying their territory using geo-tags. Locating dog-deer territories that overlap and selectively modify the vegetative structure to protect both populations separately. The Rescue Team organized an anti-rabies vaccination drive on 11th October 2021 on campus. Through the help of the PFCI (People for Cattles in India), we vaccinated twenty dogs. Such vaccinations ensure the safety of students, staff, and residents. The organization also donated twenty kilograms of dog food, which we currently use to feed our dogs.

On the 21st October 2021, the rescue team encountered their first task. A dog was found with an injury on the neck. The team chased after the dog, managed to capture and bring him to the campus. Unfortunately, it was mating season and by morning he had escaped from the cage that had secured him in.

On 28th October 2021, the team found a small malnourished puppy in the area just outside the campus. She was named Zuca. She fostered for a while and now has a forever home at the campus farm. She is being well taken care of there.

On 3rd November 2021, the team was informed that a female dog on campus had given birth. She had given birth in a shed full of discarded wooden desks and chairs and soon moved her pups to a safer place outside on the level ground. Unfortunately, she was unable to move one of her puppies as it had fallen through the pieces of wood. The rescue team along with Mr. Sudeep (Research Scholar, Department of Statistics) was able to rescue. They dug through the pile of wood, threw aside large planks, and finally got to the little puppy. The team rescued it and reunited it with the mother.

On 20th November 2021, the team got calls about a dog on campus bleeding from the ear. The dogcatcher was immediately called. After managing to capture her, she was sent to a vet clinic. She was given the required treatment, neutered, and brought back to the campus in good health. She was named as Luna.

Sometime around the beginning of November, Ms. Smrithi Wilson, Chairperson, WCC, got a call about a puppy, who had suffered a spine injury. This puppy was taken along with Zuca and another puppy (all three found in and around campus) to BMAD (Besant Memorial Animal Dispensary). All puppies received the required treatment. The insured puppy is currently being fostered and given all the special care and help it needs.

CONCLUSION

The academic year 2021-2022 has witnessed once again the sovereign hand of God orchestrating all the events, sustaining us through Crises during pandemic lockdown in addition to receiving an honour and privilege of becoming trend setting and trend shifting institution as in the past. Madras Christian College will strive hard to appropriate and contextualize the developments in education by tuning itself with the current trends fulfilling the vision of our founding fathers and plan of God. Madras Christian College has ventured into creating a culture of innovation and research, culture of resource mobilization and prospectively would embrace outcome based education as part of its education mission. Lockdown was an opportunity to prove that MCC reckons employee value proposition through its service to humanity by holding its staff financially safe through its reserves. Pandemic dispensation was an opportunity for the institution to validate its resilience through a seamless transition to the digital platform. This was possible only by the providence of God. Apart from setting benchmarks for the development of the institution, Madras Christian College believes in handholding the stakeholders to achieve the goal by providing awareness, infrastructure, mentorship and opportunities to grow from naivety to proficiency.

May God Bless Madras Christian College. In hoc signo.

Thank you.
